Solar Lights Provide Safety and Security for Schoolchildren in Quang Tri

Thanks to financing by the D.O.V.E. Fund, twelve schools in Quang Tri province now have exterior solar lights. Affixed to tall, steel posts on the edge of the school yards, the large solar panels soak sunlight during the day which provides reliable illumination for the schoolhouse, playground and nearby roadways at night. Teachers and students are excited about the addition of solar lights not only because it highlights the beauty of the school and brings light to the village roads but also because it helps ensure a safer environment for student activities after dark.

Solar lights illuminate the school entrance.

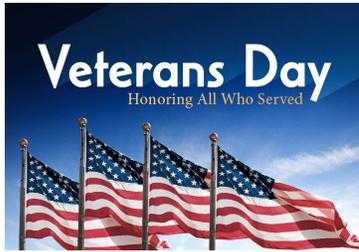

The Vu Phong Company, is a Vietnam based manufacturer of Solar Light Packages. Their units feature a light-weight solar panel that is attached to a lamp post or to the roof of a house connecting lamps that provide hours of renewable, cost-efficient lighting. The units for home use have two outlet cords that can be threaded through the ceiling. The kits comes with two LED lights and even has multiple ports to charge cellular phones. The units include a small battery pack that stores energy during the day and can release enough

Safety is enhanced with solar lights in the schoolyard.

Remembering Our Veterans

Later this month, we will take time to remember those who served. The Vietnam veterans of the D.O.V.E. Fund, particularly those who helped found the organization, are especially grateful for the opportunity to return, rebuild and honor the humanity we all share. We are also appreciative of those who support our efforts to bring a message of peace, reconciliation and a more hopeful future for the people of Vietnam.
